Opening Day of the Chautauqua Here

THE DUNBAR QUARTET AND BELL RINGERS

THE Dunbar Male Quartet and Bell Ringers are to appear here as the musical feature of the opening day of the forthcoming Chautauqua. This organization carries a peal of 200 bells made in Europe and ranging in size from one to twenty-five pounds. These bells are soft and mellow in quality. There is no sweeter music than that of bells when they are in tune and played in perfect harmony. In addition to their bell ringing the Dunbars present cello, piano and violin solos and appear in instrumental trios, vocal solos and vocal quartets.

The Deposit and People's Banks of Paris have been merged under the name of Deposit & People's Bank, with a capitalization of $150,000.

President Wilson extended executive clemency to four men convicted in the dynamite conspiracy. Eighteen others must begin serving their prison terms.

The Greenville Coal Co. secured the contract to furnish coal for the Eddyville penitentiary from the State Board of Prison Commissioners. The contract calls for about 9,000 tons of mine coal at $1.67.

Though the quality is superior and the quantity only slightly in excess of normal, the price of Kentucky bluegrass seed this year is said to be unusually low because of the large quantities of old seed on hand.

A cannon, which was the gift of Senator W. O. Bradley, has arrived in Lancaster and will be mounted and placed in the park there. It is a 12 pounder and was shipped from the U. S. arsenal at Rock Island, Ill.

Gov. McCreary has given assent to the acceptance by the State University of $10,000 from the Federal government under the Levi act to use it in agricultural extensive work. The executive act is essential when the Legislature is not in session.

The Citizens Bank & Trust Co., Ashland, was closed by Bank Examiner Jno. B. Chenault, representing the State Banking Commission. The bank is capitalized at $200,000. A shortage of funds brought about by real estate loans on which the institution has not realized is said to be responsible for the action of the examiner.

Didn't Want Her.

Poor old Dan had been henpecked, but now lay dying. His wife, melted a little for once, said to him:

"You're going, Dan!"
Dan, his eyes closed, made no answer. His wife, with a sigh, then repeated:

"Dan you are going, but I'll soon follow you!"
Upon this Dan's glassy orbs opened and he said in a hollow voice:

"You stay here just as long as you can!"

Responsibilities gravitate to the persons who can shoulder them, and power flows to the man who knows how.—Elbert Hubbard.

Whenever some man starts in to express an adverse opinion on the accomplishments of the Democratic administration at Washington, put these questions to him. What has Mr. Wilson done that either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Taft, had either of them been chosen at the 1912 election, would have done better? What has Mr. Wilson done that either political party in opposition to him would undo if they were placed in power? What has he not done that either of these would be likely to do if either of them was given the power? Don't accept generalities and sweeping condemnation for an answer; pin him down to specific statements. You will find how little of fact and how much of guff there is about that criticism heard.

Wanted a Buffalo.

"I understand that each Congressman is entitled to one buffalo," writes a constituent to Representative Wilson, of Florida. "Kindly ship the buffalo to me to reach here if possible not later than the 20th of this month. I will greatly appreciate the favor. You, no doubt, have no use for the buffalo yourself, and I might as well have it as anybody. Let me know whether it will come by freight or express, and if I have to pay the charges. If it comes by express I ought to know a day ahead, as they could not keep a buffalo overnight in the express office. They have no provision for taking care of so large an animal. I am not even sure a buffalo could get through the door."

It Don't Pay.

The man who drinks intoxicants is being crowded to the wall. Railroad companies do not want him, mill owners pass him up and private employers do not give him a warm welcome. Even the saloon keeper loses interest in him as soon as his money runs out. It has always seemed to us that the time spent in drinking is a frightful waste of good manhood, and it must seem that way to the drinker in his sober hours. Drink brings a harvest of tears and shame and leaves a ruin of broken homes and heart-crushed women and children, and it is not worth the awful price.

The Perfect Husband.

My perfect husband, among a great many other qualities, must love like a Frenchman, attend to business like an American and dress like an Englishman. I have come back from America with a great admiration for the American man's devotion to business. If one were permitted to have three husbands he would certainly be one of them. This is how I would divide my labor: The Frenchman for the home, the Englishman for the street and the American for the office.—Polaire in London Chronicle.

Goes "Dry" With a Whoop!

The General Federation of Women's Clubs went "dry" last week with a whoop.

In a resolution presented by the committee on resolutions and seconded by the Kentucky delegation, the Federation convention put itself on record as follows:

Whereas, the liquor traffic is responsible for three fourths of the crime, vice and misery of this country, be it

Resolved, That the women of the General Federation place themselves on record as to the liquor traffic and in favor of such Federal or State laws as will tend to eradicate this evil.

There was no temporizing with the liquor question. Even when it was read a storm of applause broke through the meeting.

The delegation from Kentucky arose to its feet at the chairman's call for a second. Other States clamored for recognition, but Kentucky won.

At the request for a vote a volley of "yeas" reverberated to the platform. Not a single dissenting vote was heard. After the liquor question resolution had been passed, there was more applause. Singing broke out in different parts of the house at once and thus the women drew their convention to an end.
